

Arlington Firemen to stage Labor Day week-end picnic

8 fire companies will compete in water fights

Arlington Heights firemen, as has been their custom, will close the season's festivals and carnivals of these parts with a Labor Day week-end picnic at Recreation Park. The firemen call it a picnic but it will have many of the earmarks of a festival with games, prizes and rides. A special feature will be the water fights that will start at seven o'clock each evening.

Eight departments from the neighboring towns will compete for the $25 in prizes. On Saturday evening the first contestants will be Lake Zurich vs. Bensenville. The other teams competing that evening will be Long Grove and Barrington.

Palatine will meet Mt. Prospect on Sunday evening with Vernon opposing Des Plaines. The finals will take place Monday night between the four winners.

A special water fight will be staged Sunday afternoon at two o'clock, between employees of Poole's garage and members of Arlington Heights auxiliary fire department.

Dancing each evening will be another feature welcomed by the young people, especially when the music is by Hahnfeld. Dance tickets are only 25c. For added measure each dance ticket sold will entitle the purchaser to participate in the awarding of $200 in prizes. The prizes are on display in the window of Stumm Bros., Arlington Heights furniture dealer.

Equipment for the newly organized first aid squad has priority on the receipts of the picnic, which the firemen hope will be sufficiently large to also include the purchase of other needed equipment.

Business firms and patriotic individuals have been liberal in the purchase of tickets, but there are still a number of unsold books. Those who have not been approached can secure tickets at the municipal building or at business places displaying the ticket placard.

Games and races
There will be a program of games and races for children of grade school age Sunday and Monday afternoons. Prizes will be athletic equipment, balls, bats, gloves, etc. Entries are open to all children under high school age.

Registration at Lutheran school next Tuesday
Registration of new pupils will take place on Tuesday, September 7, at 9:00 a. m. at St. Peter Lutheran school. Children coming from other schools must present a transfer to be placed into their proper grades.

Those eligible for first grade must be 6 years by the first of February, 1944. Children entering kindergarten must be 5 years by February 1, 1944. There are still a few places available in the kindergarten, which anticipates a record enrollment.

St. Peter's will again establish a bus route for those children living in the vicinity of Rand, Palatine and State rds. The Harvel Bus Company of Arlington Heights will serve with its usual efficiency. Time and route will be transmitted to parents directly. The school will be in session a full day on Tuesday.

St. Peter Lutheran church invites all parents of the community to make use of its school. Anyone desiring further particulars should call either Arlington 195 or 1382-M.

FIND STOLEN TIRE
Gus Bedurski, of Deer Grove forest preserve, found a recapped tire this week that had been stolen August 13 from the Bauman service station, Barrington. A new tire, cigarettes and tobacco were among the loot that was taken at the same time.

Bedurski took the tire to Gaare Oil Station, Palatine, who reported it to the Barrington ration board.

Sunday, 2-1

Glenview air base nine to be

opponents Sunday

The Arlington Red Wings did it again Sunday when they avenged a previous defeat by the Queen of Angels, handing them a 2-1 defeat in ten innings.

The game was another one of those hair raisers that keeps the fans on their feet throughout the entire ten innings. There were thrills in every inning with defensive play spectacular on both sides with the edge going to Wahl and Kirchhoff of the Red Wings, who really played a beautiful game.

After the Red Wings scored in the third inning, both teams went scoreless until the Queens scored in the ninth on two singles and an infield out. The Red Wings came back in their half of the tenth and scored the decisive tally on singles by Schaefer, Spielman and Willert.

Ed. Wahl led the hitters with four singles and Willert was runner up with two hits. Geo. Schaefer pitched his usual good game and Don Winkelman looked very good behind the plate.

The team misses Royce McWhorter, who entered the Army Air Corps last week, but after all, Uncle Sam comes first. Rog Spielman is back after a two week layoff because of a leg injury.

Next Sunday, September 5, the Naval Air Training Station from Glenview will be our guests. The fans know what this means. It will be a good game.

On Labor Day Red Wings will play the Cragins.

Paint 'em up

clean them off

A group of Arlington Heights younger generation, girls just old enough to possess lip sticks, with their boy companions, have been having one grand time painting up the walls of the depot waiting room with "love messages." They did the work usually around 11 p. m.

Monday morning, at eleven o'clock commuters waiting for trains saw the unusual sight of these same boys and girls scrubbing off the lip stick, which certainly stuck to the walls.

Railroad officials asked Police Chief Herb Skoog for assistance in rounding up the guilty ones. With the initials blazen on the walls it did not take long for the police to find some of the boys and girls who admitted their guilt and readily consented to "wash 'em off."

It started off as a lark, but it became a hard job before it was finished.

Edward H. Christen, proprietor of Hi-way Food Shop, on Northwest Highway, Arlington Heights, has purchased the Rubner drug store building to which place he will move this month. The Hi-way shop has been very much crowded for years. Further expansion was prevented by lack of space.

The new store is 24x125. There is plenty of kitchen space that will permit the baking of the famous pies of this shop without interference with the store proper. The sales room will be more than twice its present size.

Mr. and Mrs. Christen and their customers are looking forward to the opening of the new place.

Telegraph service through the local office is available between 8:30 and 12:00; 1:00 and 5:00 daily except Saturday, when the office closes at noon. All phone calls should be made to 711, not the Publication office.

Money telegrams will be continued to be handled through the Arlington Heights National Bank. Margie Flanders manages the local office.

Wm. Kirchhoff Mt. Prospect pioneer dies

Veteran school and drainage official

Mr. William Kirchhoff, whose father was one of the pioneer settlers of Wheeling township, died Saturday morning, August 28, aged 82 years, 9 days. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at Mt. Prospect Lutheran church with interment in the Lutheran cemetery.

Mr. Kirchhoff was baptized and confirmed in St. Peter Lutheran church, Arlington Heights and on May 1, 1881, was united in marriage to Miss Marie Busse, who survives him. They made their home on the Kirchhoff farm on Central rd. for thirty-six years. They moved to Mt. Prospect in 1917. Eight children, four sons and four daughters were born to them. One son passed away in infancy and one daughter, Mrs. Henry Freise at the age of 37 years.

Those left to mourn his departure are his wife, Marie, three sons, Louis, William and George, all farmers on Central rd., Mt. Prospect; three daughters, Mrs. Sophia Zersen, Itasca; Mrs. Louis Freise, Palatine, and Mrs. Laura Stier, Mt. Prospect; 25 grandchildren and 21 great grandchildren.

One of the first civic jobs that Mr. Kirchhoff undertook, was that of school director of the new school district No. 57, which gave the newly formed village of Mt. Prospect, a school of its own. It was formed from territory that was previously included in Fessenden, District 58 and Des Plaines.

Mr. Kirchhoff became a school director at the organization of the district, remaining on its board 35 years. He helped to build the original building and the four room brick structure. He was always a friend of education. Years after his retirement from the school board he displayed interest as a private citizen in the welfare of the local school system.

William Kirchhoff was the "father" of drainage in this part of Cook county. By invitation, he was one of the original drainage commissioners of Wheeling Drainage district and was one of the organizers of Weller Creek Drainage district, taking the blunder of the work attendant to court approval of the plans. He served both of the districts as commissioner many years.

These two districts today furnish adequate drainage for a large farm territory in the neighborhood of the village of Wheeling and in northern Elk Grove township, including the village of Mt. Prospect.

He visualized the future of adequate drainage that would transform average farm land into truck gardens that would double and triple the value of the land itself.

Ham sandwich

may be yours

Thanksgiving

Uncle Sam has promised every man and woman in the U. S. Armed forces a Thanksgiving day turkey dinner. For that reason, the government has frozen turkeys.

Keith Chidley, largest turkey farmer in northern Cook county, is a man who takes an active interest in his industry. He has explained just why Uncle Sam needed to freeze the turkey crop.

It seems that ten to 14,000,000 pounds of turkey will be needed for the armed forces at home and abroad during the Thanksgiving season. From two to 3,000,000 pounds will be needed by Sept. 15 for shipment to further-distant four corners of the world where American forces are stationed.

When turkey men heard these stipulations, they realized that early shipment meant many birds would have to be "finished off" very quickly. So they gladly agreed to put a complete lid on the entire turkey industry until government needs are filled.

Organized turkey raisers are cooperating with the government and are encouraging all others to do likewise. The sooner the required pledge to the government can be filled, the sooner the turkey ban will be lifted and the industry will return to normal.

So should you be unable to get a turkey for Thanksgiving dinner, you'll know that some fellow in a far off part of the world is getting yours. Mr. Chidley suggests that you settle for a ham sandwich—now he can explain where to find ham!

Supt. Clabaugh in final school announcement

Kindergarten to open in St. John church basement

The Arlington Heights public schools will open Tuesday, Sept. 7, at 9 a. m. Kindergarten

The kindergarten will be held in the Sunday school room of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church for the first two or three weeks, until alterations of the building at 407 N. Evergreen st. are completed. The regular kindergarten program will be followed and it is hoped that all who are to attend will register at the church Sept. 7.

The kindergarten will not be in session the first day, but will be open for registration of all new pupils and for the enrollment of all others who have previously registered.

Children five years old on or before Jan. 31, 1944, are eligible for kindergarten. Those whose fifth birthdays fall on or before July 31, 1943, will be in the afternoon kindergarten and should report at 1 p. m. Sept. 7, while those whose fifth birthdays fall between Aug. 1, 1943 and Jan. 31, 1944, inclusive, will comprise the morning group and should report at 9 a. m. Sept. 7.

Enrollment
First grade children not previously enrolled will register on Tuesday morning, Sept. 7, and will be accepted if their sixth birthday comes on or before Jan. 31, 1944. Children transferring from other school systems should bring their school records with them. Children not previously enrolled in any other elementary school must present a birth certificate, baptismal certificate, or some other acceptable verification of the date of birth.

Tuesday's session will be during the morning only for grades one through eight, with all classes dismissed at 11:30 a. m. for the day.

The Northwestern railroad tracks serve as a dividing line between the North and South schools. Those living south of the railroad should enroll at the South school, while all children living north of the tracks will attend the North school. All pupils in kindergarten and seventh and eighth grades will attend the North school.

The cafeteria at the North school will open Wednesday, Sept. 8, for the convenience of children who must eat their lunch at school. Children at both schools are expected to go home for lunch if at all possible. Provision will be made at the South school for the supervision of those children who must carry their lunch.

The rental system will continue to provide children with textbooks and materials at a minimum cost. The fees charged will include the use of materials consumed in regular classroom work, with the exception of pens, pencils, scratch paper, etc. The materials for projects in manual training and domestic science which become the property of the children when finished, will be paid for by the individual student.

Rental fees for all grades will be as follows: grades first through fourth, $2.00; fifth and sixth, $2.50; seventh and eighth, $3.00. Rental fees are established on the basis of the total cost of consumable books, such as workbooks; plus one-fourth of the cost of textbooks used more than one year.

Tuition rates, established by the board of education, for the school year of 1943-44 will be $10 per month for one child in a family, and $7 for each additional child in the family. Tuition is payable monthly in advance at the North school office of the superintendent, Mr. Clabaugh.

The list of public school teachers omitted two names when it was published last week. In the South school, Miss Mildred Russell will be teaching both second and third grades. She attended Teachers college, Charleston, Ill., and attended summer school this year.

At the North school, Miss Eleanor McBride will teach third and fourth grades. She is from Sydney, Ill., where she has been teaching for six years.

Howard Voss of 407 N. Had-dow, Arlington Heights, became owner of the Collignon food store Sept. 1. The transfer of ownership was made definite between Mr. Voss and Albert Collignon the night before.

Mr. Collignon would have been proprietor of the store just ten years this coming April. He decided to sell the store after his son, Vernon, was called to the air corps, and he himself was called to be superintendent of the American Automatic Typewriter company which is manufacturing navigators for the government.

Mr. Collignon's daughter, Mrs. Lucille Amtmann, has been in charge of the store for the past six months, but the family agreed finally to dispose of the business.

Mr. Collignon wishes to express his gratitude for the patronage of his customers, and his regret at having to give up the store. He did insist that the next owner be an Arlington man when the time came to choose among those interested in buying the store.

Mr. Voss has resided in Arlington Heights for several years. Previously he was produce manager for Jewel Tea Co. for six months, and has been with the North Side National Tea Co. for a total of eight years both here and in Chicago as store manager.

His wife, Dorothy, will run the delicatessen at 4 N. Dunton during the daytime, and Mr. Voss will help when he gets home from his defense work.

Wheeling Twp. has first case of polio

Loretta Rodin, now in Evanston hospital, contracted the first case of polio in Wheeling township last Saturday. Her home is in Forest River near St. Mary's school on River rd. It is reported by the hospital that she is well on her way to recovery.

Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Wheeling and Palatine are the only northwest towns that have escaped the wave of infantile paralysis.

In Des Plaines, Jeanette Miller is the third polio victim. She was taken from her home, 1,000 Prairie ave., Tuesday to the county hospital. The other two children taken ill, are nearing the end of their quarantine period.

"Jerry's" symptoms
Graham "Jerry" Hoggins had the third case of polio in the Barrington area. He is reported "doing fine" at Michael Reese hospital where he was admitted last Friday. Jerry, seven, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hoggins, 227 Coolidge ave., and will enter second grade in Barrington public school this fall.

Last Thursday he came home complaining that "his head was going around." After a short nap that evening, he had a fever, and couldn't put his chin onto his chest.

Doctors took fluid from his spine at the hospital Friday, ascertained paralysis, and gave him serum. Saturday morning he had no fever and the stiffness in his neck arched back was gone. His parents tell the work this week he feels fine and eats well.

Brian Parker, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton E. Parker, West County line rd., is recovering in the Evanston hospital from the first case of polio in the Barrington region. Elsa Matter, 17, daughter of Ludwig Matter, Lake Zurich, was second to contract the disease. She died Aug. 20, the day after she was taken to Waukegan hospital.

It's Xmas mailing time for gifts going overseas

The Christmas shopping season is here — even though the weather is still warm.

Mailing of gifts for Army and Navy personnel overseas must begin by September 15, if many of the men and women in our armed services are not to be disappointed; and September 15 is less than a month away.

Christmas gifts may be mailed by parcel post to Army men and women overseas only between September 15 and October 15. After the latter date, such parcels may not be mailed unless a written request from the soldier for the article is presented with each parcel. No soldier should have to ask for a Christmas gift; so gifts must be mailed on time. The Navy also urges that gifts be mailed between September 15 and October 15.

Reasons for the early mailing dates are: The vast distances that the parcels must travel to reach our men at war fronts and stations of thousands of men from one location to another, and the necessity for giving preference to reinforcements, arms, munitions, medicine and food in allotment of shipping space, which often means that the shipments of gifts must wait. And it is most urgent that gifts be delivered to the men in TIME FOR CHRISTMAS, to keep their spirit high.

The only way to insure against disappointment for the fighting men is to buy at once and mail early — mail your gifts as soon as possible after the September 15 starting date.

Those who have relatives or friends in the service should remember that we have fighting men in Alaska, Greenland, Iceland, England, Sicily, far-separated regions of Africa, the Near Eastern countries, Australia, many of the South Pacific islands, India, China, South America, and other areas.

Weeks are required for a ship to reach many of these stations. There can be no assurance, of course, that the first ship sailing for any of these locations will have space available to carry Christmas parcels. Gifts may have to wait until vital needed supplies and equipment have been shipped, to assure victory and to save the lives of our men. If the parcels are not mailed early, that delay may prove to be just enough to prevent their arrival by Christmas day, with consequent disappointment to the men who are offering their lives for their country and ours.

Mail of all kinds is vital to the spirit of fighting men. Every officer who has inspected our Army and Navy postal facilities overseas has reported that thousands of fighting men disregard mess cals when it conflicts with mail call, and get their letters first. Officers at our large military and naval stations report that the spirit and efficiency of their men receive a distinct lift when mail is distributed, and that a delay in mail service caused a decided decline in spirit with a consequent letdown in efficiency.

A disconsolate soldier or sailor who thinks he has been forgotten at Christmas obviously is not at his best. So the gifts MUST be mailed on time so that they can arrive on time.

Rules for Christmas mailings to the fighting forces overseas were made public in June for the guidance of early shoppers. They include:

The parcel must not exceed five pounds, and must not be more than 15 inches in length or 36 inches in length and girth combined. It should be marked "Christmas parcel" so that it may be given special attention to assure its arrival before December 25.

Not more than one parcel may be mailed in any one week to the same member of the armed forces by or in behalf of the same mailer.

The parcel must be well and strongly packed, in a container of metal, wood, strong fiber board, or similar material, then wrapped in strong paper and tied with twine. The cover should be such that it can be opened readily for censorship. The contents should be packed tightly.

Perishable goods, such as fruits that may spoil, are prohibited. Intoxicants, inflammable materials such as matches or lighter fluids, poisons, and anything that may damage other mail also are prohibited. Gifts enclosed in glass should be substantially packed to avoid breakage. Sharp instruments, such as razors and knives, must have their edges and points protected so that they cannot cut through the coverings and injure postal personnel or damage other packages.

Since the armed forces are being plentifully supplied with food and clothing, the Army and Navy recommend against these as gifts.

Addresses must be written clearly and completely. In addition to the return address of the sender, a parcel for an Army man should show the name, rank, Army serial number, branch of service, organization, Army post office number, and name of post office through which the parcel is routed. A typical address for an Army man: Private John R. Doe (Army serial number) Company F, 167th Infantry A. P. O. 810, c/o Postmaster New York, N. Y.

The address on a parcel for a Navy man should include the name and rank or rating of the addressee, the Naval unit to which he is assigned and the Navy number assigned thereto, or the name of his ship, and the fleet post office through which the parcel is routed. A typical Navy address: John M. Jones, Seaman first class, U. S. Navy, Naval Air Station, Navy 199 (one nine nine) c/o Fleet Post Office, San Francisco, Calif.

An account of Pvt. Everett Gaare's action in Bairoko harbor capture and New Guinea conquest appeared in last Sunday's Tribune with his picture. He is the nephew of Henry Gaare, Arlington Heights and Otto Gaare, Palatine. He himself lived in Barrington for several years.

Miner McEuen music studio in Arlington

Miner McEuen will open a music studio in Arlington Heights about the middle of this month and will accept a limited number of students, both adults and children, for either private or class lessons. His studio will be located at his home, 501 S. Belmont ave.

A graduate of the University of Illinois, the Chicago Musical College and other equally well-known schools of music, Mr. McEuen is known in Arlington Heights as a piano-tuner and repair man and for his amateur shows. This summer he has taken a special teachers' course at the Chicago Musical College under the direction of Winifred Glass, Master of Music. He plans to use only the most modern methods of teaching in his classes and for his private lessons.

Mr. McEuen has been in the orchestra business for 20 years and still books orchestras. He has played at the White City Ballroom, the Parkway hotel, and the Webster hotel, in Chicago. His most famous published composition is "Blue Because of You," featured by Ferde Grofe, Ted Weems, and Louis Panico.

Recently in Arlington Heights he has produced and written "The Yanks Come Back" and "Brotherhood of 1942." He was also arranger and accompanist for the Legion-4 quartette which won second prize at the State American Legion convention in 1935.

Such a varied musical background should admirably suit Mr. McEuen for his new profession as a teacher of both classical and popular piano.

Fetler family concert Sunday at Palatine

The Fetler family band, nationally known family of musicians, will present a concert this Sunday evening at St. Paul's Evangelical church, Palatine. Concert will start at 8 p. m.

Born in six different countries, the Fetler family of Riga, Latvia is something so unique that it has attracted the attention and enthusiasm of multitudes in Europe, and, since 1939, many thousands in the United States.

The father, Rev. Vasecky Fetler, was converted at the age of 15 and attended college in London. In 1901 he returned to Russia and began his church work, building churches and spreading the gospel wherever he went.

The Reverend married and toured the countries of Europe and Asia. Thirteen children were born on these travels, comprising the present Fetler Family Band.

The family has presented 700 concerts in Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Switzerland, and have appeared more than 1,000 times in this country.

Their program includes the Pilgrim's chorus, Volga boatmen song, and many popular religious songs.

Rev. John B. Hubbard is in Mt. Prospect

Father Hubbard, well known cleric of Park Ridge, is taking charge of the morning service at St. John's Episcopal Mission on Sept. 5 and Sept. 12, at 8:30 a. m. Those who have heard him before look forward to the next two Sunday morning services to hear his message.

Brown's Vacation

"I've had a vacation," said Timothy Brown;

"A fine one, though I have not left the town."

I merely vacated my worries and fears.

At once became younger by fairly five years.

I vacated my ruts, and began to enjoy

My regular humdrum, but useful employ.

I changed my outlook and vision of life,

And made it a pastime instead of a strife.

I've had a vacation, not vacant, a bore.

But fuller and freer than ever before;

The best of vacations for fat purse or lean—

A change of the seeing instead of the scene."

—Amos R. Wells.

Shortly after Labor Day, children will be starting a new term at school. After spending considerable time and money on clothes and school supplies, many parents think they have done all they can to prepare their child, but actually they have other obligations to the youngster which are perhaps even more important.

It is wise to have a child vaccinated against smallpox and immunized against diphtheria. These protective measures should be taken as far ahead of the opening of school as possible, since while few children are ill after inoculations they are frequently irritable and restless.

Correctible physical and dental defects should also be taken care of, the further ahead of the first school day the better. This sort of thing is seen to in many Cook county schools through the "Summer Round-up" program, sponsored by the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers.

There are also mental and emotional adjustments which children should be helped to make on entering school, especially the younger ones going for the first time. These little tots find themselves in strange surroundings where mother can't be called to straighten out little problems. They are no longer the center of attention, and they sometimes feel the lack of familiar things which provide the sense of security upon which they depend.

Starting the child in his new environment in good health and a gradual but thorough explanation of school life and reassurance that "Everything will be all right" are the best means of laying a good foundation for his success and happiness as a student.

The following check list is recommended as an inventory to determine whether a child is ready to enter school:

1. Is he vaccinated against smallpox and immunized against diphtheria?
2. Have correctible dental and physical defects been seen to?
3. Does the child have the proper outlook toward school?

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Szasz have moved from 123 S. State rd. to the home at 220 N. Dwyer st., recently purchased from E. Willert. Miss Grace Buettler of Palatine visited her cousins, the Geo. Harris family, Monday.

Mrs. Minnie Beaumont is moving this week to home of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Wiese, in Indianapolis, Ind. She has sold her home in No. Evergreen ave., where she has lived the past forty-five years. She will be missed by many old time friends who wish her health and happiness in her new residence.

Mrs. Roscoe Schaffer and son, Wendel, who have been visiting her mother, Mrs. Lena Fehlman, the past fortnight, returned to their home at Oklahoma City, Okla., Wednesday.

Margaret Weidner and Elmer Brown married

Margaret J. Weidner, Buffalo Grove, and Elmer J. Brown of Wauconda, exchanged marriage vows Saturday, August 21, in a double ring ceremony at St. Mary's church, Buffalo Grove. Rev. A. J. Boechler performed the morning ceremony.

The bride was dressed in white satin, trimmed with lace, with a long train and three-quarter length blusher veil. Flowers for the bride included prayer book and rosary, and gardenias with stephanitis.

Serving the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Robert Dressler of Chicago, sister of the bride. Her brothers were gladiolas and snapdragons, with white asters.

Bridesmaids were Miss Laverne Brown of Wauconda, sister of the groom, Miss Marie Emmerich of Buffalo Grove, cousin of the bride, and Miss Margaret Hoffman of Des Plaines. They all wore white tulle with net skirts, and blue sweetheart shaped hats. Their flowers included blue delphiniums and white asters.

The bride's mother, dressed in black, and the groom's mother, dressed in blue, wore pink aster corsages.

A reception dance was held in the evening at the Wheeling school gymnasium. Many gifts were given to the newly married couple.

After a four day honeymoon trip, Mr. and Mrs. Brown are residing in Wauconda.

Mr. Paul Mayer spent Sunday with his son, Nicholas Mayer and wife in E. Kensington rd. Also Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fraier came from the city for a visit. Mr. and Mrs. Mayer have received a cheerful letter from their son, Nicholas, who is in camp at Edwards, Mass. He states that he is well and busy. He sends greetings to all friends he has left behind.

Inquiring reporter visits Chicago theater

Miss Marian Babbitt, who spent her summer vacation from Smith College as society editor of Arlington Heights Herald, took as her last news assignment a visit back stage of a Chicago Theatre Tuesday. Miss Babbitt is president of the dramatic association of Smith College and the visit was "right down her alley." The editor knows that readers will enjoy her story as much as Marian enjoyed her visit and personal contact with the men back stage as well as the principals appearing on the stage show.

MARIAN BABBITT

Yes, out of this world is an accurate way to describe life backstage at the Chicago theatre. When we entered the drab stage door, ever lit by a single bulb (why, we wondered, must stage doors always be drab, and why is the single light kept burning day and night?) we left behind the busy city life of Chicago and entered the busier life of the theatre.

The stage manager, a most obliging gentleman, looked upon us as his special guest and showed us all—from the ninety foot high rigging and catwalk to the tremendous, remote controlled light-board and the workings of the "washing machine" which moves the bandstand back and forth.

Peering between the curtains we caught a glimpse of the huge audience which was watching the show. We were told that audiences had been bigger than ever this summer, probably due to travel restrictions and vacations at home. Since the newsreel was on, we passed the time in looking around the backstage area and talking to the stage carpenter, who remembered when the stage was but a third of its present size and had a huge apron.

Then before we knew it, we heard the buzzer—a signal from the man in the projection booth, meaning "Ready film ending." Instantly every one who had been merely standing around stepped to his job; musicians took their places, two men prepared to raise the picture screen on signal, the electrician stood at his board. Next came the theme song of Teddy Powell's orchestra, the lights went up, and at a nod from Teddy, the curtains parted, the bandstand moved forward, and the show was on.

We suspect that one of Teddy Powell's best and severest critics is his wife who stood in the wings, beating time to the rhythm and alternately smiling and frowning.

As one number goes on, the electrician "sets up" his lights for the next one—seemingly paying little attention to what he is doing, yet there is never a slip. It seems—and these are his own words—that it is much like an experienced stenographer pounding her typewriter keys and nearly as automatic. Later we learned that he has 125, 1,000 watt floodlights to control, not to mention numerous strips, borders, and spots. In addition to the electrician at the board, there are three men in the projection booth who keep the principal performers lit with a large "follow spot." With this complicated lighting, one might suppose that the weekly setting up of the lights for the new show would be an impossible task. They complete it in four or five hours. Then, too, the electrician explained, the lighting is pretty much the same for similar types of numbers and is mostly used to create effects.

While we were making our inquiries on stage lighting, the band finished its number, and the star of the show, "little" Virginia Weidler made her appearance—only she isn't "little" any more, but is a young lady of 18 who tells in song how she resents being taken for the child of "Philadelphia Story." Afterwards we managed to talk to her and ask a few questions. She told us this was her first stage tour, and she liked it a lot—but she liked the movies a lot, too. The stage's appeal, she says, lies in the fact that there is a visible audience. She also said she started the tour on the 13th of the month, it was to last 13 weeks, and it would end on the 13th—and 13 is her lucky number.

Miss Weidler was whisked away by her ever present manager and we once more wandered about on our own. This time the prop room caught our attention and we saw an assortment of tables, hangings, and ground rows.

Before we had done much exploring in this fascinating place, who should appear but "the tallest man in the world," Henry Hite of the comedy act "Low, Hite, and Sammy." He is seven feet ten inches tall and even our five feet eight seemed dwarfed beside him. He said his act was booked separately and had been touring the major cities for some time.

After the band played its final number, the electrician had dimmed his last dimmer for that show, and the picture screen had once more descended from the flies, we talked again to the carpenter and stage manager. Needless to say we came away with our head buzzing with interesting facts about counter-weights, proscenium width, and what swell guys the orchestra leaders are.

Yes, a wonderful place, the theatre—out of this world in a world of its own.

Mrs. Lillian Draper Klehm came from the city Saturday to visit her mother and attend funeral of Mrs. W. A. Pfluger.

LIFE WITH MOTHER

August 25, 1943

Dear Eleanor:

Will you believe it? I'm actually preparing to leave the boys with Rob, and go up north to visit cousin Georgia for a few days. It's really quite an occasion, for it will be the very first time I have gone off by myself in all the years of our marriage. And, that's a considerable length of time, isn't it?

It all came about when Georgia was here two weeks ago. She had asked me earlier in the summer to bring George or Edward or both and spend some time with them, but I couldn't quite see how Rob and the two older boys would manage the meals when the three of them are working every day. When she suggested it again, Rob answered for me.

"Of course, she can go . . . the change would be good for her. I've been intending to take a few days from the office . . . want to attend to some things around the place. The boys and I can 'batch' it and, I'll bet we'll have fun!"

I'm not quite sure how to interpret that last phrase, but in any case, I'm going to give them their chance.

August 27.
Here I am sitting in the most delightful guest-room at Maple-Oak Farm. I awakened this morning to a sky still overcast from yesterday's rain storm. The fact that the sun is not shining does not in the least take away from the beauty of the place.

This room looks out to the east and the west. Between the large trunks of the great oaks which are close around the house, but not too close, I can look for miles over fields of corn and clover. Everything is still, so very still.

It was a little strange to wake up and not hear the voices of my boys in the background somewhere. It made me feel like I was someone else. I wished for you to be here with me, for I'd like so much to have you see Georgia in her home with her family. She's always been a fine person to me, and I'm sure, you too, appreciate what I mean.

She did not appear at my bedroom door until well after eight o'clock. "Wake up, Sleepy, here's your breakfast!" And certainly there it was.

On a pretty ivory painted tray, I found a blue and white Wedgewood pot of coffee with a dear little sugar bowl and creamer to match. A very old covered dish of blue English china under which reposed a handsomely poached egg on buttered whole wheat toast; a slender crystal glass held chilled orange juice, and a wee dish filled with her own peach preserve stood temptingly nearby. At the very edge of the tray two perky pink Morning-glory's greeted me. "Who am I, to be so honored?" I thought as I picked up the flowers and tucked them in the button-hole of my pajamas.

When Georgia and Henry bought this farm five years ago, there wasn't one modern convenience here. She did her cooking on a wood and coal range, read by oil lamps, and carried buckets and buckets of water for bathing and laundry purposes. Now, she has a fine electric stove and refrigerator standing in an entirely new kitchen; the room that had originally been used as the dining room. Little French windows open over the spotless sink, and pink and white geraniums stand in a box on the outside. The kitchen looks over the entrance driveway and on the opposite side through a low wood gate, a fine garden grows. A giant size oak spreads out in the most perfect fashion at the garden's edge. Away in the distance a fine herd of Holstein cows graze in clover. All this may be clearly seen by merely lifting up one's head when washing the dishes.

Like many of the old farm houses in our part of the country, this one has a lot of small rooms. Georgia would like to remodel by tearing down a few walls to throw some of the rooms together. Of course, that would be practical from a house-keeping standpoint, but I find it a delightful surprise to walk from one room into the next. One suddenly comes upon a lovely little sitting-room right off of their bedroom; a little closet with shelves connecting the two. I'm sure if it were in our house, Rob and I would sit there every evening before retiring.

Off of the dining-room there is a porch with trellis of Morning-glories and roses. I think I prefer this to a porch from the living room, as is usually the case. Georgia's artistic ability has shown itself in a most pleasant way in this particular room. It is papered in delicate yellow and pink, with white dotted and ruffled curtains at the windows. Crystal hurricane lamp shades cover ivory candles that stand guard on either side of her silver service on the buffet. An antique mirror hangs above giving brightness and length to the room. A cabinet filled with glass and china treasures graces one wall. A framed sampler that I made for her the year I was married hangs at one end of the room; the sight of it brought back lovely memories to me.

Perhaps you would like to have me describe Marcia's room to you. (How much nicer it would be if you were here to see all of this with me). Her wall paper is in shades of pink and blue. Her furniture in early American is painted ivory. A dressing table is skirted in washable white ruffles, her bedspread in white candlewick. Her clothes closet shelves are covered with gay colored edgeings. The rugs are braided. Pillows and dolls, pictures and books are distributed around; the whole setting cheerful and cozy, and just right for a twelve year old girl.

Billy's room is in antique wall-

Alois Tins

Mr. Alois Tins, 75, former resident of Palatine, died at his home in Long Grove Saturday, Aug. 28, after a week's illness. The funeral was held Tuesday at the Long Grove church with burial in the Bohemian National cemetery.

He leaves a wife, two daughters, Mrs. Frank Kloboucnik, Palatine and Mrs. Orville Keiler, Long Grove, and four grandchildren. Mr. Tins and his son, the late, Harry Tins, laid out the Tins subdivision in Palatine on West Wilson st., in the early 1930's. The family resided in Palatine at that time.

Deceased was born in Austria May 13, 1868, coming to America in 1892. He had married Miss Louise Placek the previous year. Following a few years in the eastern part of the United States, the family moved to Chicago which was their home 43 years. They later moved to Prairie View, then Palatine and for the last ten years lived in Long Grove.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Mr. Otto E. Frank, my dear husband and father, who passed away one year ago, Sept. 7, 1942.

nut with Mexican colors and hangings and bed spread of homespun materials. A desk and book shelves hold the treasures of boyhood. A sombrero hangs jauntily over a hook, a brave pinto pony in china tops a wall shelf. An example of fine lettering learned in the mechanical drawing class is tacked on the entrance door, plainly indicating that this is the "sanatorium" of one little boy named Bill.

The sun is beginning to put in an appearance. I believe I'll get into my slacks and red sweater and walk to the barns. Billy is down there somewhere helping his father. Somehow, I feel that the sight of a little boy would be a very pleasant thing right now.

Give my love to your boys and little Charlotte. Georgia sends her very best wishes to Eleanor and her family.

Affectionately,
Mary.

Saving American Lives

On American warships, in field hospitals and in military hospitals here at home, X-ray and Fluoroscopic units are helping to save the lives of our sick and wounded servicemen. And to meet the ever increasing need of this scientific equipment for new ships and new field hospitals, Electric Power is on the job day and night.

Electric Power enables women war workers to do the cutting, the welding and the fitting of vital X-ray units—because Electric Power does the heavy work. It drives the lathes and drills . . . runs the welding and stamping machines . . . propels the huge conveyors and assembly lines.

Supplying Electric Power for war production in Northern Illinois is our assignment from Uncle Sam. And to this assignment we are devoting the skill and efficiency attained through years of experience.

Lt. Ed. Chidley to marry Virginia McElhose Saturday

This is a busy week for Miss Virginia McElhose, who will become the bride of Lieut. Edward Chidley, Saturday evening in a candle light service in the St. Peter's Lutheran church. Nearly every evening is taken with parties for the bride-to-be.

On Tuesday evening the Girl Scouts of Miss McElhose's troop held a special meeting in the Lutheran school hall, to present their leader with a wedding gift, and on Wednesday evening her bridesmaids, Miss Margaret Schulte and Miss Dorothy Hoeft, gave a party and shower for the bride-to-be, in the Schulte home.

The prospective bridegroom is already here on his fifteen day furlough, having arrived Friday from Shreveport, La., where he has been on maneuvers. He was stationed prior to that at Camp Macey, Texas.

The wedding will take place at 7:30 on Saturday evening, with Rev. Reimer of Reedsburg, Wis., performing the ceremony. Rev. Reimer is the grandfather of the bride-to-be, and also married Florence McElhose, now Mrs. Reuben Middlehorn of Chicago, several years ago.

Jack Hannon, who enlisted in the navy on July 31, is taking his boot training at Great Lakes, and his parents will be able to see him at the post on Sunday.

Carlson family holds reunion at Plum Grove

Thirty-two relatives of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Carlson gathered at the Carlson Acres at Plum Grove, Sunday for a family reunion, and to honor four boys of the family in the service, who were home on furlough.

Most of the relatives were from the Chicago area, but Corp. Howard Johnson, Staff Sgt. George Erickson, Donald Nelson of the USN, and Richard Dechert, a pilot instructor, represented various parts of the country. It was to be regretted that Lieut. Warren Carlson stationed at Madison, Ind., was unable to be present to make the group complete. The group enjoyed an afternoon of games on the spacious lawn, and a picnic supper was served at five o'clock at two large tables, which were patriotically decorated in small American flags and red, white and blue carnations.

After dark the group enjoyed roasting marshmallows around a huge bonfire, to bring the pleasant day to a close.

Carpenter's mate and Mrs. Fred Hammer, Jr., are parents of a baby boy born on August 25 in the St. Francis hospital. The baby's Daddy left four weeks ago with the Navy Seabees for overseas duty, and mail indicates that he may be in the South Pacific. The baby weighs 7 lbs. and 6 oz. The baby has been named Frederick Arthur the third.

Canal Zone teacher visits in Arlington

Miss Elsa Bearse, former teacher in the Arlington Heights public schools, who for the past three years has been teaching in the government schools of the Canal Zone, was a recent visitor in the village.

Miss Bearse flew to the States in June in a stratosphere clipper by the way of Miami, New York, and Boston, where she spent some time with her parents at Millis, Mass., and Cape Cod.

In July, Miss Bearse came to River Forest, Ill., where she visited at the home of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Kendrick. She has been a recent visitor at the home of Mrs. Charles Close in the village, and while here, enjoyed meeting old friends at a luncheon given by Mrs. Close and Mrs. H. J. Carr in the home of Mrs. Carr. Several friends from the village also enjoyed a tea at the Kendrick home in River Forest, given for Miss Bearse.

Miss Bearse returned to the Canal Zone late in August by plane by the way of Brownsville, Texas. From there she flew to Mexico City, where she expected to remain for a short time, before flying to her destination, Coccol, Canal Zone.

Miss Bearse has greatly enjoyed her life in the Canal Zone, even during the war, which has decidedly stepped up activities in that area. They have complete blackout every night after eleven p. m. and dim out at all times.

She teachers first grade in a government school in Coccol, and last summer remained there to work in the government offices. Miss Bearse taught first grade and kindergarten here for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kept and son, Christopher, and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Morrissey and son, Douglas Michael, will spend the weekend at Lake Geneva at the home of Mrs. Morrissey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Kull.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright and son, Donald, of Chicago, have purchased the Scarsdale home of the Grigsbys and are moving in this week.

Mrs. John Schulenburg and Mrs. Melvin Kehe entertained twenty-four friends on Thursday evening at a shower honoring Mrs. John Ernst. The group played buncos, and Mrs. Ernst was presented with a lovely array of gifts. Mrs. Robert Schaefer of Miami Beach, Florida, was an out of town guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Everett and son, Dick, attended the Barnum and Bailey circus on Saturday in Chicago.

Neil King Barr and his Dad returned this week from a vacation at Graham, Mo., where they visited Mr. Barr's father and other relatives.

Doris Clark is married

A wedding of interest to many in Arlington Heights is one that took place early this summer in Durham, North Carolina, when Miss Doris Clark, teacher in the public schools here, became the bride of Corporal John R. Sauve, of Camp Butler, Durham, North Carolina.

The couple were married on June 28 in the post chapel, in a military wedding with Chaplain Albright of the Methodist church performing the ceremony. Corporal Sauve's entire Platoon attended the wedding and gave the bride couple a right and left hand, preceding and following the ceremony, as they came down the aisle of the chapel.

Miss Clark wore for her wedding a two piece beige silk suit with beige accessories, and wore a corsage of purple orchids. Corporal and Mrs. Lorenzi of California served as the bride couple's attendants, with Mrs. Lorenzi dressed in a pastel blue suit, with beige accessories. She wore a corsage of yellow tea roses.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Stephenson of Durham gave a wedding reception for the guests following the wedding, and the bride couple spent the summer at Durham. Mrs. Sauve returned to the village on Saturday and will again teach first grade in the North school.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Looze and son, John, of Corpus Christi, Texas, were overnight guests in the John Kent home this week.

Girl scouts in hike, picnic

Troop Three, Arlington Girl Scouts, enjoyed a bicycle hike and picnic on Monday afternoon and evening. The girls rode their bikes to Dam No. 2 and spent the afternoon in the Forest Preserve. They returned to the village in time to cook their suppers in the Jarvis woods. Later the girls were presented with their awards earned during the spring and summer. Mrs. Walton made the awards.

Bob O'Hagan says 'I do' to Manitowoc, Wis. girl

Aviation Cadet Robert O'Hagan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Hagan, of Scarsdale, was united in marriage with Miss Lillian Kellner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Kellner of Manitowoc, Wis., on August 26, in the Gesù Catholic church at Milwaukee, Wis.

The wedding took place at ten o'clock Thursday morning before a small group of friends and relatives of the bride and groom, with Father Richard Cahill performing the nuptial mass.

The bride wore for her wedding a white street dress with a white hat and veil, and wore a corsage of orchids.

Miss Charlotte Conte of Minnesota, a classmate of the bride at Marquette, served as maid of honor and was gowned in pastel blue and wore a corsage of white gladioli.

John McFald, in the R.O.T.C. Reserves at Marquette and a fraternity brother of the bridegroom served as best man.

A wedding breakfast was served following the marriage at the Schroeder Hotel.

Bob graduated from the local high school with the class of '39 and until his call from the Army air force reserves into active service, attended Marquette University, where he has completed three years in the school of engineering. He is a member of the Alpha Gamma Phi Fraternity.

The bride will complete her studies in the law school at Marquette in October and then join her husband in Texas, where he is training as an air cadet.

Hundred guests attend garden club party here

More than a hundred guests attended the Garden Party given by the Arlington Heights Garden club Saturday evening in the beautiful gardens of Mrs. George Max Adams on East Euclid ave.

The gardens made a perfect setting for the lovely exhibits of garden flowers, floral arrangements, and vegetable exhibits which were displayed.

While the floral tables received their just praise, it was at the vegetable exhibits that one heard many "Ohs and Ahs" over the size and variety of the products of local gardeners.

Among the single exhibits was a potato weighing a pound, a large zucchini squash measuring twenty two inches in length, eight inches in diameter and weighing ten and a half lbs. This was displayed by Tad Sommer.

A large melon which weighed 9½ lbs. made many a mouth water, as it looked just right for table use.

Among the outstanding vegetable displays was a miniature Mexican peddler, pulling a typical Mexican cart filled with miniature vegetables of every conceivable kind. This was arranged on a small Mexican serape. Another attractive vegetable display was arranged in a large horn of plenty, and a wooden bowl filled with yellow squash, pumpkin and yellow tomatoes was especially attractive.

Outstanding among the floral exhibits was an arrangement of white day lilies displayed in a white bowl, an arrangement of peach and white gladioli with two complimentary asters arranged in a copper Chinese bowl, a spike flower display, a miniature corsege in pink and white and a mirror display, which had a small trail of roses, delphinium, and sweet peas wandering across it.

Mr. George Kiehne had a full table of displays, showing the origin of the moine elm tree in the village, a display of the various pears which he has raised, and other interesting exhibits.

Mr. Harry Beile had an exhibit of squash, cucumbers, egg plant, and corn and various other vegetables, which were sold and the proceeds given to the club.

A humorous exhibit which received attention was the origin and growth of the golf ball, which was arranged by Mr. Milo Little. Soft lights from Chinese lanterns and pleasant music added to the attractiveness of the setting, and the guests enjoyed ice cream, cake and coffee during the evening.

Hartfords leave Arlington for River Forest

Mr. and Mrs. George Hartford, residents of Stonegate for the past few years, have sold their home and are moving to River Forest. They expect to leave the village some time during the month of September.

Mrs. Hartford, as midwest chairman for Bundles for America, finds it necessary to be closer to the city, where she spends four days a week at Bundles for America headquarters, and Mr. Hartford's business also requires him to give more and more time in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartford have been active in charitable and civic organizations in the village during their residence here. For the past few years Mrs. Hartford has been head of the local Bundles for America Unit, which she organized here. The group has grown to be one of the largest production units in the entire midwest area, under her leadership. She also organized the Inverness group, and was active in the organization of other groups in the Northwest area.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Ackley was the scene of a birthday celebration on Saturday evening, when a group of relatives gathered to honor the natal day of the host.

Mrs. Beatrice Alden of Chicago spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Everett.

State officials visit Heights OES chapter

Arlington Heights Chapter No. 992 O. E. S. was honored last Thursday evening, Aug. 26, by the presence of Esther Gielow, Worthy Grand Matron and Arthur Johnson, Worthy Grand Patron of the O. E. Nine members of Grand Chapter committees, three of whom are members of the local chapter, Maybelle C. Jasper of Credentials, Blanche Dick of Membership Loyalty and Celia Hausman of Eligibility.

There were seven Grand Lecturers, ten worthy patrons, three worthy patrons, ten past worthy patrons. The meeting was well attended numbering 140 members of the order representing 25 chapters from Illinois and one from Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Three petitions for the degrees were accepted at this meeting. The chapter room was decorated with garden flowers furnished by the members. The inspiring message of Esther Gielow was enjoyed. Sister Gielow

Wheeling home bureau picnics indoors in rain

Those members of the Wheeling Home Bureau, who were undaunted by the heavy rains on Thursday of last week, met at the home of their chairman, Mrs. Warren Feltingham for their annual picnic.

To be sure there was no picnic out of doors in the lovely garden as had been planned, but the guests found the basement to be a suitable place for their recreation. There were plenty of hot dishes, chicken, salad and cakes for all and after an enjoyable visiting time during the dinner hour, the guests spent the afternoon playing cards, feeling well repaid for venturing forth.

The next regular meeting of the Unit will be held September

THE 3rd WAR LOAN DRIVE STARTS -TO BACK THE INVASION!

What you will be asked to do—

MARK WELL the date—Thursday, September 9th. For on that day, you must answer to your country's call.

On that day, the 3rd War Loan Drive opens. To you—and to every other true American—a clarion call goes forth to rally to the support of our flag.

You will be asked to back our fighting forces to the very limit of your resources. You will be asked to go ALL-OUT FOR INVASION by investing in EXTRA War Bonds—more War Bonds than you perhaps think you can possibly afford.

To meet the national quota, every individual in the country who earns a wage or draws an income or has accumulated funds must invest, if he possibly can, in at least one EXTRA $100 War Bond. Those who can, must invest more—thousands of dollars' worth more. Each and every one must do his full part.

Scrape up the money from every source you can... turn in all the loose cash you carry with you... dig out what you had tucked away "just in case." Go without pleasures, luxuries, even necessities this September. And give our fighting men the things they need to fight with—and win.

These men are throwing everything they have into this fierce invasion push. They are giving their blood, their lives. No one can put a price on such courage, self-sacrifice, devotion. But you can show you're with them to the limit! You can say it with Bonds... EXTRA Bonds this month.

World's Safest Investments

For this 3rd War Loan, you will be offered your choice of various government securities. Choose the one that fits your requirements.

United States War Savings Bonds Series "E"; gives you back $4 for every $3 when the bond matures. Interest: 2.9% a year, compounded semiannually, if held to maturity. Denominations: $25, $50, $100, $500, $1,000. Redemption: Anytime 60 days after issue date. Price: 75% of maturity value.

2½% Treasury Bonds of 1964-1969; readily marketable, acceptable as bank collateral. Redeemable at par and accrued interest for the purpose of satisfying Federal estate taxes. Dated September 15, 1943; due December 15, 1969. Denominations: $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000, $100,000 and $1,000,000. Price: par and accrued interest.

Other securities: Series "C" Savings Notes; ¾% Certificates of Indebtedness; 2% Treasury Bonds of 1951-1953; United States Savings Bonds series "F"; United States Savings Bonds series "G".

Indiana

Richard F. Lacina, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Lacina, 915 N. Cal. ave., Arlington Heights, was commissioned a second lieutenant and received his silver wings at graduation exercises held at Freeman Army Air Field, Seymour.

Oklahoma

Life in the Army isn't all drilling, marching, and K. P. Sergeant James D. Ketterman, son of Mrs. Luella Ketterman of 502 N. State rd., Arlington Heights, is using some of his time while off-duty to go back to school.

The local youth, now stationed at Enid Army Air Field, Okla., has enrolled with the United States Armed Forces Institute, an official War Department school which provides high school, college, and vocational correspondence courses for men and women in the service.

Thousands in uniform are now using this study plan, developed by the Army's Special Service Division, ASF, to continue their academic work during the war. Upon successful completion of each course, a Certificate of Proficiency is awarded and a transcript of the student's grades is sent to any school he designates to be evaluated for credit.

No matter where the soldier is stationed, he may continue his off-duty study. Overseas, the lessons are serviced by speedy photo-mail and at the present time more than 60 per cent of the Institute's enrollees are at the foreign battlefronts.

Texas

Pvt. Tom Jarvis, who entered the armed services in March as an enlisted reserve at the University of Illinois, is stationed at Camp Fannin, Texas. He is in the infantry, and at the present time is attending Corporal school. Tom was in his sophomore year at the University when he was called into the service.

Tennessee

Lt. Stuart Paddock, former "hired hand" of Paddock Publications, is now on maneuvers in Tennessee. His new address is Lt. Paddock, O-353816, Co A 610 TD Bn, APO 402, Nashville, Tennessee.

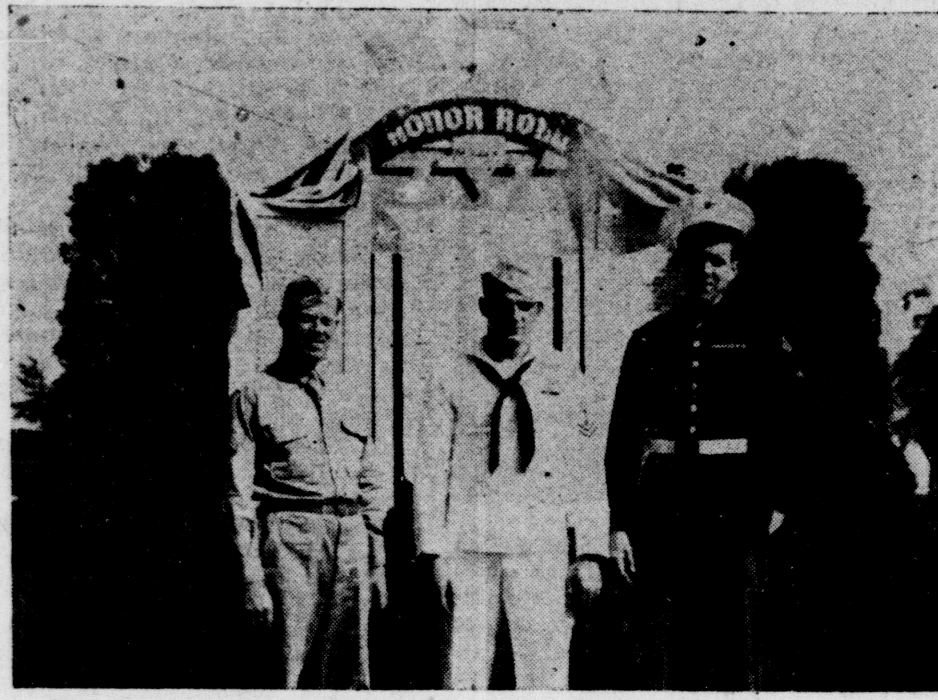

Indiana. Freeman is an advanced two engine pilot school.

Lacina was a member of Class 43-H, the fifth class to be graduated from Freeman Field. He will now be assigned to a specialized school where he will learn further refinements of flying.

Lacina joined the air corps September 28, 1942, and was sent to Maxwell Field, Alabama, for primary training. From Maxwell Field, he was transferred to Harris Field, Missouri. He was graduated from Harris Field about the first of May.

WAVES

Betty Fenton has joined the WAVES and will leave next week to enter Hunter College, New York. She reports September 9.

Wheeling servicemen were represented by three of their comrades at the time of the dedication of the Wheeling Community Honor Roll. By coincidence they were a typical cross-section of the 107 men in the service from Wheeling community.

Missouri

From Camp Crowder, Missouri, this week comes word from Cpl. Wilbert Becker of Arlington Heights.

"I really must apologize for not expressing my appreciation for receiving the Herald, especially after I have been receiving it all this time. If every one in service enjoys it as much as I do, I know it would be a great disappointment if it were discontinued; even more so to those who are abroad.

"After spending eight months in Louisiana, I enjoyed a short furlough; and am now in Missouri trying to become a radio mechanic. It is very interesting, but they really must think we are supermen. They're pushing two years of radio at us in 3½ months. I only hope I'll be able to repair a set when I finish the course.

"Am looking forward to seeing Arlington Heights again in October."

Becker's address is Cpl. Wilbert E. Becker, Co. I, 800 S.T.R., Bldg T3755, Camp Crowder, Missouri.

California

From Camp Haan, California, this week comes a letter from Lt. John Ernst of Arlington Heights.

"We've been chasing around southern California for the last several weeks on field problems. I'm now executive officer of an airborne battery and spend most of my time flying about the country. It is great stuff with plenty of excitement and no time to get bored.

"Thanks to the people of Arlington Heights for the recent traveling bank gift. That $17 came in mighty handy for my recent furlough home."

John's address is 546 AAA Bn, Camp Haan, California.

Maryland

Bethesda, Maryland, is the postmark of a letter received from Lois Gustavson of Arlington Heights. She is a pharmacist's mate, third class, of the WAVES.

"I am taking time out from this office job of mine to catch up on a bit of my correspondence. Most of the time I do things that seem unimportant to me, but this is where the navy wanted me and here I stay.

"The weather here is pretty good and we can't complain on that account. It's nice and cool to night. The country is interesting, but not nearly as exciting as I imagine Chicagoland is these days.

"I meant to ask—are there any Arlington Heights boys down here in Washington, Bethesda, Anacostia, Ft. Meade, Belvoir, Pickett, Norfolk? I would like very much to see someone from home and there are so many army and navy bases around here. Perhaps I'll run into someone I know at the service centers. I am going into Washington tonight to see Walt Disney's 'Victory Through Air Power.'

"I might say that the food is good out here. Lots of it and quite a selection. I try to skip a few meals now and then, but it's hard to do because it is all so good. We have quite a distance to walk to and from our barracks and we get our exercise that way.

"Today is field day, which means that we all pitch in and help clean everything in sight. Tomorrow the captain comes around to inspect and everything must be shipshape. He runs his finger over high ledges, too."

Her address is Lois G. Gustavson, Ph.M. 3/C, WAVES Quarters, Nat'l Naval Medical Center, Bethesda, 14, Maryland.

Idaho

A serviceman's dream materialized Saturday noon when Seaman Arthur Wesolek arrived at his home just 24 hours before his soldier brother, Corporal Edward Wesolek was due to leave for his station at Fort Claiborne, La.

Both boys expected furloughs about in September and hoped they would coincide. The furloughs came a little earlier than expected, but fortunately they overlapped enough to allow the brothers one day at home together.

Arthur has just completed his boot training at Farragut, Idaho, and is home on a 15-day furlough.

Ensign Marjorie Mohr, N.N.C., of Wheeling, arrived home Thursday on a ten day leave. Ensign Mohr has been stationed at the Naval hospital, Farragut, Idaho, since entering the service last November. She is a graduate of the school of nursing, Walther Memorial Hospital, Chicago.

John Nickol

praised by CO

A partial story of how Pvt. John Nickol of Arlington Heights met his death in action in Africa May 5 of this year, was revealed this week upon receipt of a letter from his commanding officer.

"I had the honor to be in command of Pvt. Nickol at the time of the engagement in which he was fatally wounded. It may comfort you to know he was highly regarded by his comrades and is missed greatly by all of us. His courage was unexcelled by any."

"In the specific operation in which he was engaged at the moment of his death, along with others of his squad, while stalking a group of Nazi snipers he was exposed constantly to their fire, but undaunted in the execution of his mission carried on and in the resulting battle terminating with the extermination of all the enemy."

"Pvt. Nickol met his death calmly and unafraid, being killed instantly by a rifle bullet through the heart. I am certain that Pvt. Nickol rests easily alongside his comrades that also met their death in the course of their duty to their loved ones and the United States of America."

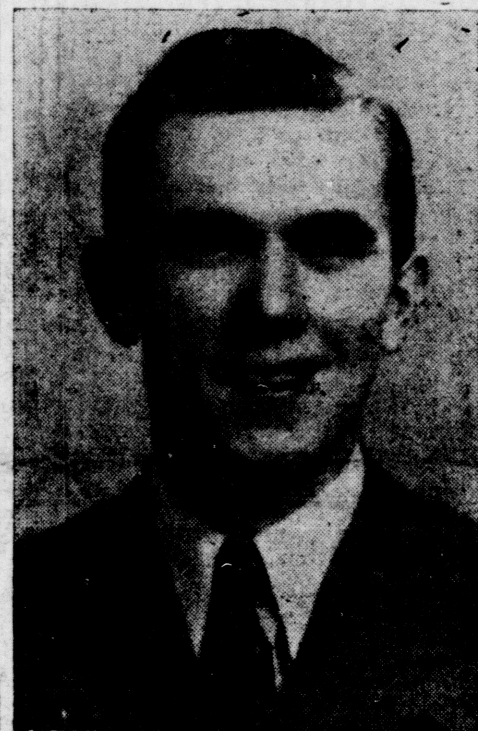

"In closing may I add my prayer to yours for the soul of my finest 'good soldier.'"

Voyd Tromblee,
"Capt. Infantry"

So. Pacific

Reaching our desks from the south Pacific area this week is a picture of a group of U. S. Marines stationed at an island station. Included in the picture is Kenneth J. Schramm of Mt. Prospect.

Ken was the first Mt. Prospect boy to see service overseas. He enlisted in the marines December 20, 1941 and was sent to San Diego, California, for seven weeks training. March 5, 1942, he left for "destination unknown." This was later found to be Australia and then the Solomons.

Kenneth attended Arlington Heights high school before entering service and worked for the Chicago North Western railroad. He is attached to an artillery unit.

The Riney Schmidt family of Wheeling recently received a letter from the South Pacific from their son, Pvt. Richard Schmidt.

The letter told of being on an Island occupied by the Japs, until a short time ago, and was written by a buddy, Pfc. Frederick Gregg. Richard said he was well, and is with a fine bunch of fellows. He has received some much appreciated mail since being on the island.

Bank nets $16

Traveling bank at Arlington Heights netted Pvt. Earl Weisberger $16 last week. This week Sgt. Wilbert Engkeling is the driver of the traveling pay car. The bank now totals $1,657.

Wisconsin

John Walter Senne, 151 N. Plum Grove ave., Palatine, is included among the Navy V-5 air cadets currently stationed at Marquette University in Milwaukee, Wis.

Cadet Senne, a graduate of Palatine township high school, is studying in the Marquette College of Engineering and receiving his elementary flight training at the Curtiss-Wright airport before proceeding to more advanced work in the long course leading to his Navy wings.

Burgess A. Field, Palatine, has begun training at the Oshkosh State Teachers College, Oshkosh, Wis., before becoming an aviation cadet. Upon completion of the course he will be classified as navigator, pilot, or bombardier and go to school at army air fields for further instruction.

Farmers check on '43 AAA performances

In order to establish economy and give them more responsibility for their AAA program, farmers will determine their own acreages and extent of production during the present year.

According to Lee M. Gentry, chairman of the Illinois AAA committee, farmers will report to their local committeemen after receiving instructions from the county AAA office. Reports will be made and blanks furnished by committeemen and will include both production practices that are completed and those that have not yet been carried out. Committeemen will be able to answer questions on practices for earning soil-building allowances not previously received.

Although the 1943 program year does not end until December 31, 1943, most of the performance check will be completed during August and September while farmers are not quite so busy.

This method of having the farmer assume major responsibility for reporting performance has been discussed for two years and has resulted in much saving of both time and expense in areas where it has been tried.

Chinese Diet

Rice and wheat are the staple foods of China, with soy beans, kaoliang, millet, barley, corn, and potatoes next in importance. The nation as a whole consumes little fish and meat, and small quantities of eggs, fruits, and greens, which are considered as subsidiary dishes. While it is fairly sufficient in caloric values (in normal years, not in war years), the diet is seriously deficient in protein, calcium, and vitamins.

Brazilian Rentals Low

Brazil is providing factory workers with low cost dwellings at an average monthly rental of $7 for a family of six.

Farmers urged to see school supt. for help

Arrangements have been made by Farm Adviser, C. A. Hughes through the office of Noble J. Puffer, Superintendent of Schools, for farmers to go to their nearest high school and make application to the principal or superintendent to get help for fall harvest work. It has been suggested by Mr. Puffer to the county schools that such boys as can be released during harvest work.

In order to get a fall crew it might be necessary for a farmer to work two gangs of boys. The schools which will cooperate will arrange their time schedule so these boys will be in school part time and work part time. It may be that half day arrangements will be made or most likely whole days at work and then whole days in school. Each individual principal will work out his schedule so it will be of less inconvenience to the boys and the most service to the farmers.

Last fall a similar arrangement was made in this county during the harvest of sugar beets. Practically all the schools in the county cooperated with the farmers who requested labor and these boys were able to assist in a material way in the harvest of beets. We feel quite certain that the school boys will again come to the aid of farmers in the harvest of their many farm crops.

For the most part it is believed the vegetable growers are in more need of boys than the general farmers. However, a number of dairy men have indicated that they would like to have boys to help during silo filling time. It is felt that with this arrangement that most of the farmer's extra labor needs may be taken care of.

Also superintendent Johnson of the Chicago schools has indicated that such outlying schools where labor is requested that the superintendent will deal with this problem to give farmers help from the labor of boys that are in the city schools of Chicago.

With hybrid corn, the important thing is NOT where the seed was grown, but how it performs where you plant it. The best way to compare varieties and decide which ones suit you the best is to see them growing side by side in a soil and climate similar to yours. That's why Dekalb has more than 3300 proving grounds or demonstration fields, throughout the corn-growing areas.

PEEK IN THE FUTURE FOR FARMERS

RACINE, WIS.—One man can operate this small, self-propelled "Clipper" combine, which cuts and threshes a grain crop at the same time. Developed by Massey-Harris Co., here it heads directly into the standing grain instead of being pulled by a separate tractor, and is an example of how farm machinery manufacturers, looking ahead to the post war market, are emphasizing new equipment for family-sized farms.

Holstein breeders field day to be held Sept. 12

The Illinois Holstein Breeders Association will hold a Field Day and Type Classification Sunday, September 12, at Curtis Candy Company's farm near Arlington Heights, according to an announcement by Otto Schneringer, president of the company.

Holstein breeders attending will have an opportunity to inspect the company's Holstein herd, and speakers scheduled to appear on the day's program will include Glen M. Householder, extension field man of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, Battleboro, Vt.; A. J. Lauterbach, manager of the Pure Milk Association, Chicago; J. B. Fitch, head of the dairy department, University of Minnesota; F. W. Atkinson, head of the dairy department, Kansas State College, Manhattan; and Mr. Schneringer.

The day's activities will begin at 10:00 a. m. and at noon Mr. and Mrs. Schneringer will be hosts at a luncheon for all those attending.

The Arlington Heights farm is located at the corner of Buffalo Grove and Hintz rd., near Arlington Heights.

To Identify Future Army Fliers

Young men of 17, who volunteer and are accepted for enlistment in the Air Corps Reserve, will be presented with this official Air Corps lapel button to be worn with civilian dress while they are on an inactive status, the United States Army announced. The new badge, which will identify its wearer as a member of the United States Army Air Forces, is silver-finished with a blue enamel center. Upon reaching the age of 18, the young Air Corps Reservists will be eligible to begin their preflight training. If they are high school or college students at that time, their call to active duty may be deferred until the end of the current semester, provided it is completed within 6 months after they reach the age of 18.

Corn dry-matter test will show time for storing

With good feed in the silo as valuable as money in the bank, it is especially important to test corn for dry-matter content to make sure it is at the best stage when stored, says W. H. Nevins, professor of dairy cattle feeding, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Corn stored while too immature is likely to become sour and unpalatable in addition to representing a sacrifice in yield, he says. If too ripe, water should be added to prevent molding. The following test will indicate the dry matter content of standing corn:

1. Strip all leaves and husks from five or more representative plants. Cut into pieces one and two inches long and weigh them.

2. Line shallow baking pans with newspaper and spread the sample in them. Place in an oven and subject to a temperature that will dry the corn rapidly without charring the paper. If the oven is equipped with a regulator, set it at 212 degrees Fahrenheit. Usually, three or four hours of heating are enough. However, dry sample until it ceases to lose weight.

3. To find the percentage of dry matter, divide the weight of the sample after drying by the weight after it was cut. Thus, if a sample weighed 3.4 pounds just after cutting and 1.1 after drying, the percentage of dry matter should be 32 (1.1 divided by 3.4x100).

4. About 30 per cent dry matter is the best stage for putting corn in the silo. If below 25 per cent, it is too green; if 35 per cent or above, it is too dry and water must be added.

"What comes out of the silo next winter depends upon what goes in this fall," Nevins warns. "Storing corn at the proper time means good, wholesome feed later on."

Correct storage of protein food very important

Foods rich in protein such as fish, meat and milk need special care when thermometers begin to soar, say food specialists, University of Illinois College of Agriculture. Certain dangerous bacteria, which may not noticeably change the taste of the product, thrive in protein foods that have started to spoil and may cause serious poisoning.

In order to reduce this danger, correct storage is necessary. Cooked meats need to be kept in the refrigerator at or below 45 degrees Fahrenheit and should not be permitted to stand at room temperature any longer than absolutely necessary. Fish, milk, eggs and cooked leftovers containing any of these foods call for prompt attention in order to prevent spoilage.

Foods containing milk and eggs or both often give trouble in summer. Macaroni, spaghetti and other starchy baked dishes have also caused serious food poisoning when not properly refrigerated. Make every inch of refrigerator space count, but don't stack or crowd if you can avoid it, and give the most perishable foods preference as to location.

Don't cool things not in need of it, such as pickles or jelly. Certain fats keep just as well at room temperature. Heavy store wrapping, cardboard cartons, tops of vegetables, have no business in the refrigerator. Nor have oversized containers; use those that fit things you have to store. Let warm food cool before storing. In most refrigerators it's best to cover all foods except those like melons which have their own cover of thick skin. Moisture and flavors from uncovered food escape and freeze on the cooling unit. As the frost gets thicker, the temperature goes up.

Procedure important in strain removal

How many garments do you have in your wardrobe at the moment that are not wearable because of unsightly stains? In these war times it is not only smart to be thrifty, but the duty of every patriotic citizen. So instead of discarding those garments, or letting them hang in the closet unused, why not put them in condition and bring them back into circulation. Stains are easily removed if a few simple rules are followed.

One important step in removing stains is to take time to do a good job, according to Miss Florence M. King, clothing specialist, University of Illinois College of Agriculture. Too many people have dabbed a stain with some removing fluid with a result that the stain remains, a ring is formed in the material and the individual is thoroughly disgusted with the job. Time and patience are two necessary ingredients in all stain removal directions.

In order to remove stains successfully it is important to be prompt about the task. The American Institute of Laundering has made tests which indicate that the acid in stains from fruit juices weakens the fabric as much as from 15 to 38 per cent. These figures indicate how damaging such stains may be and the importance of removing them promptly. Drying will concentrate the acid and increase the damage.

Before you attempt to remove any stain, know the kind of material to be treated, continues Miss King. Different kinds of fabrics react differently to the various reagents. A stain remover, for example, that will work successfully on cotton may ruin wool or rayon.

For cotton and linen materials, use only mild acids and apply a weak alkali, such as ammonia water or baking soda to neutralize the action of the acid. Use only weak alkalis and rinse the material in water to remove the alkali. If even weak alkalis are allowed to dry, they become concentrated and will then destroy the cotton or linen material.

For wool and silk materials, use mild acids and avoid all strong alkalis. Any bleach that contains chlorine will destroy wool and silk. Sodium borohydride or hydrogen peroxide are good bleaching agents to use on wool and silk. Use only lukewarm water for wool and silk, for hot water shrinks wool and injures the finish on silk.

In the rayon materials, mild acids and alkalis can be used if they are well rinsed out. Rayon is weakened by water; therefore, handle it carefully when wet and avoid twisting and pulling.

There are two distinct kinds of rayon, one called regenerated cellulose and the other cellulose acetate. All regenerated rayon may be treated just as cotton and linen are treated, but the acetate rayon is different and requires special attention. It is soluble in acetone, alcohol and chloroform. These three ingredients are frequently found in commercial stain removal reagents, and, therefore, it is imperative that you know the kind of material to which you are applying the remover. Regenerated rayon is very easy to tell from acetate rayon by the burning test. A small piece of material can be taken from a seam of a garment and burned. If the material burns with a yellow flame, it is entirely consumed by the fire and a light feathery ash remains, the material is regenerated rayon. If the material does not flame, but seems to melt with a very hard molten ash remaining, it is acetate rayon. Synthetic materials like nylon and vinylon are very easy to clean, for they are not harmed by acids or alkalis. Neither are they weakened by water, and, since they take up very little moisture, most stain remain on the surface and are easily washed off. Bleaches may safely be used on nylon and vinylon.

Vinyon, like acetate rayon, soluble in acetone, alcohol and chloroform and, therefore, should be taken when using solvent to use one which does not contain acetone, alcohol and chloroform.

Aralac, the fiber made from milk, is a protein substance like wool and silk and should be treated in the same manner. Most of the aralac materials found in markets are mixtures of aralac and wool or aralac and one of the rayons.

It is wise to make the simple burning test to prove what rayon has been used before applying a cleaning fluid.

Another important rule for successful stain removal is to apply the right reagent for each kind of stain. Since stains differ in substance, various kinds of reagents are necessary for their safe and complete removal. The wrong treatment may set a stain so that it is impossible to remove it. It is a good plan to test the reagent being used on a sample of cloth or on a hidden part of the garment to be sure that it is not going to change the color of the material.

Cost of living drops for second month

Victory gardens lead battle against rising food prices

Believe it or not, but the cost of living is coming down! Data compiled by the Bureau of Labor Statistics puts the over-all cost of living for July at 123.8 — and that was the second drop in a row. The figure for May was 125.1 which means about one-fourth higher than the average for 1935 through 1939. Unofficial estimates suggest that the August index will be somewhat below 123. The experts say that the reasons for the drop include a number of developments, among which were the OPA rollbacks in some food prices. Another potent reason was the fact that fresh fruits and vegetables were naturally cheaper because they came on the market in large amounts in the last two months. Not the least reason for lower food prices was the fact that America has taken Victory Gardening seriously. For backyard farmers are not in the market for vegetables when their own crops are harvested. Estimates now available indicate that the victory garden program was no "flash in the pan." Twenty million victory gardens are now yielding harvests, according to the Agriculture Department, and the National Victory Garden Institute estimates that fifty million citizens have shared in the work on them. The season's harvest from such gardens will be about a billion dollars, according to an estimate by Dr. Joseph S. Davis of Stamford University.

Farm engines

Distribution of about 37,000 air and liquid-cooled internal combustion engines of 20-horsepower and under will be controlled by county farm rationing committees. Preference rating certificates will be issued to farmers or operators of farm machinery for hire, based on the need for the engine in essential production of crops, livestock and livestock products, poultry and eggs, and bees. When the farmer receives such a preference rating certificate, he can take it to his local dealer and buy the engine.

Vegetables

Cabbage, corn and tomatoes are again helping home makers hold down their fresh food costs this week, Joe Tonkin, Federal Food Reporter for the War Food Administration said today. Supplies of these three vegetables are fairly large and they are a relatively good wartime food buy. Carrots are in the moderate price class, and other root vegetables such as beets, turnips and rutabagas are also within reach of moderate cost budgets. Spinach is selling at ceiling prices, leaving mustard and turnip tops the better buy in greens. Supplies of these two latter greens, however, have not been very plentiful. Demand for lettuce has been far in excess of the supply, consequently lettuce has also been selling at ceiling prices. Celery prices are lower this week, but this popular relish vegetable which is now coming mostly from Michigan still is a rather high priced item. Radishes are much the better buy in relish vegetables. Green beans from nearby states and peas from the west are available at most markets and fall in the moderate price class. White and yellow squash are good buys, and for a little more money there is the Acorn variety and the Italian type squashes. Broccoli and cauliflower will be found at some markets, but are in the higher costing brackets.

Milkweed

Over countless generations, American children trudging dusty country roads have plucked pods of floss from milkweeds, opened the shell-like covering and tossed the floss to the wind. As they grew older, many wondered why there wasn't a profitable use for the silky, gleaming white floss. Dr. Boris Borkman of Chicago thought about it, too, and did something about it. He formed Milkweed Floss Corp. of America, and the Defense Plant Corporation has now authorized alterations to his plant and installation of machinery to process the floss for use by the Navy.

For the duration, output, likely to reach a million pounds a year of processed floss (from six million pounds of pods), will be used by the Navy as a substitute for kapok in life preservers, aviation jackets, airplanes and other military devices. After the war, advocates of the native product hope to put up stiff competition for kapok, product of the Dutch East Indies, in the civilian field, where it is used extensively as stuffing for upholstered furniture.

Bombs and corn

When the B-24 Liberator Bomber, "Lemon Drop," of the U. S. Army Ninth Air Force came back from its mission of bombing Rumanian oil refineries at Ploesti, corn stalks were clinging to its bomb bay doors. The bombardier, Captain Herbert Light, Ames, Iowa, observed, "Why, back in Iowa you'd have to fly 25 feet off the ground to get above the corn tops. No risks involved in that. But when you're heading for a target in the Rumanian oil and corn country, you've got to tear along about six feet off the ground to skim the corn tops."

Sweet potatoes

To encourage farmers to cure and store as much as possible of this year's expected crop of 81 million bushels of sweet potatoes, farmers will be assured a minimum of $1.50 per bushel for U. S. No. 1 or better grade cured sweet potatoes properly packed in bushel crates, baskets or hampers and offered during January and $1.65 per bushel beginning February 1, 1944. Prices of U. S. No. 1 sweet potatoes containing not less than 75 percent No. 1 quality will be 15 cents per bushel less than the above prices. Farmers desiring information concerning the handling of sweet potatoes are requested to get in touch with their state or county agricultural war boards.

Ration-free boots

Certain kinds of rubber boots useful in farming and similar work but no longer being manufactured for general use have been released from rationing by a recent OPA amendment. All olive drab, clay or khaki colored rubber boots, all over-the-shoe rubber boots and all light-weight ankle-fitting rubber boots which depend upon stretch at the ankle for fitting are included in the order. However, quantities will be small because dealers do not have compete stocks on hand.

Beerots

Things to come—An emulsified oil with which to lay the dust on airport runways, incidentally killing weeds. Plastic nozzles for fire hose, later to be adapted to garden hoses. Soap-whirlcloths made of high wet-strength paper impregnated with soap which provides suds. A new vegetable developed by Dutch agriculturalists, which is a cross between a beet and a carrot, containing three or four more times as much Vitamin C as either.

Hog-cholera

The serum used in combating hog cholera is now being made in record-breaking quantities, according to the Department of Agriculture. Output of the protective serum between July 1 and June 30, 1943, was 25 per cent above last year's high output. The current supply represents large-scale protection against hog cholera, the most formidable swine disease, for the vast number of hogs now being raised in the U. S.

Truck tires

If you own a truck and have tire rationing certificates but cannot locate the proper tires within your county, you may apply to the nearest Motor Transport District Office of the Office of Defense Transportation for assistance, the ODT has reported.

Load Line of Ship

The Plimsoll Mark is the load line of a ship. Named for its originator, Samuel Plimsoll, (1824-1898), British statesman who campaigned for years for safety regulations to prevent the disastrous losses to British shipping resulting from overloading, the line is placed on the hull of the ship where all may see it. Various revisions of standards have been made from time to time.

Miss Elizabeth Gall from Chicago has been visiting her uncle, Father Gall, at the Parish house the past week.

Mr. Wm. Cleveland, who spent his vacation in the West, accompanied his mother and his son to Crown Point, to visit Mrs. Branan and on to see his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Cleveland at Waukegan.

The infant son, George, child of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Benic, died Sunday, aged seven weeks. Always like a frail little flower, he was carefully cared for and yet he dropped and like the flower faded and thus, early died. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock, the Rev. Ellerbrake in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Roth came home Saturday from their vacation trip and visit with friends in the East, Ohio and Philadelphia. They brought as their guest, Mrs. Roth's niece, Miss Fulton, who will spend some time in their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fitzpatrick drove to Everett, Sunday to visit their aunt, Mrs. Keough and family. Their two cousins, the Misses Keough, are soon to leave to resume their school work in New Mexico, where they teach.

Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Rau and family, with Miss Evelyn's guest, spent Saturday in Lincoln Park.

Geo. Weisgerber and family, and a number of friends from Des Plaines, enjoyed a basket picnic on the Fox river near Cary, Ill., Sunday.

Fred Hintz, Louis Wolf, John Bauer and Christ Niemeyer motored to De Witt, Iowa last Sunday. They made the trip in one day covering 390 miles.

Bensenville

Harold and Wilfred Wolf are spending the week visiting cousins at Valworth, Wis. A good place to spend the last week of vacation. George Franzen is again able to be out around town after being shut up for a time on account of illness. All are glad to see the old boy around on his pins again.

Mrs. W. Bishop and children have returned from their month's visit in Spokane, Washington. Had a very enjoyable time.

Mr. R. Morris is recuperating from a broken ankle received while attending his son's high school graduation. He slipped on the stair and fell three steps, breaking his ankle.

Mr. and Mrs. Scherb are in Nebraska with relatives of Mrs. Scherb. They had quite a pleasant trip through the Bad Lands in North Dakota.

Wheeling

Master Charles Cokenower was injured last Saturday morning when he was thrown from a car in which he was riding to the Killdeer Country club to caddy.

The H. Taylor family of Chicago have moved into the residence formerly occupied by J. Meinken. Having had the required training and experience in flying, Mr. Charles Balling is now a licensed pilot. His new field is located on the Haben farm north of Wheeling. His former partner and pilot, Mr. M. Larson, has returned to California.

Mrs. John Kotts and Mrs. Geo. Brady and daughter, Gwendolyn, of Michigan, were visitors at the E. E. Gieske home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ortle are the happy parents of a baby girl, born to them at the Wheeling hospital on Friday, August 24.

Child health schedule

September 8 — Wheeling public school, 1 to 3 p. m.
September 15 — Palatine village hall, 1 to 3 p. m.
September 16 — Glenview village hall, 1 to 3 p. m.
September 22 — Northbrook village hall, 10 to 12 noon.

Instruction class to be held for Woman's clubs

After a long vacation period the club women of the 7th District Illinois Federation of Women's clubs are looking forward to a busy year under the leadership of their new president, Mrs. Milton H. G. Meyer.

In order that the club members may be better equipped to do their work Mrs. Meyer has inaugurated a "School of Instruction" to which all club presidents, all district chairmen and all interested club women are invited. This "School" will be held Thursday, Sept. 9, at 1:00 p. m. at the Wilson Park Field House, located on Milwaukee ave., at Wilson ave.

Instructors will be Mrs. J. F. Johnson, State Institute chairman; Mrs. C. C. Goodwin, State Parliamentarian; Mrs. P. F. Boynton, State Circulation chairman; Mrs. E. E. Byrum, State Chairman of Finance; Mrs. B. A. Noyes, Vice President of the Northern Region, and the new State President, Mrs. W. M. Rennie.

90 foot cable is stolen; phones out for 11 hours

Unusual things do happen in wartime. For instance:

Thieves stole ninety feet of 2½ inch telephone cable in the Forest Preserve between Northfield and Winnetka and put 263 telephones out of service for eleven hours on Tuesday last week. It was necessary for repair men to install a new cable.

Chief G. E. Clapper of the Northfield police said the thieves had sawed through the heavy lead sheathed cable at two points. No clues to their identity or the manner in which they carried off the cable could be found, he said.

DES PLAINES

The will of the late Ning Eley, late of 1105 Des Plaines ave., Des Plaines, who died in Evanston Aug. 9, leaving a $15,000 estate, has been admitted to probate. He left it all to his wife, Sarah, and appointed her executor of his will.

Pacific

Pvt. Chester Voss of Mt. Prospect writes from the southwest Pacific: "On July 14 I received the April 30 and all the May issues of the Mt. Prospect Herald and, believe me, I sure was glad to get them. It looks like they're finally catching up with me."

"I got paid the other day, the first time since I left the states. I got it all in one lump sum, but we don't need much money here. There isn't a thing we can buy and what we absolutely need is issued to us free of charge.

"We have movies here on the island almost every night and Artie Shaw and his orchestra played at the Naval Base. I went to hear him and it was very nice."

"I am still working in the office and like my job very much. I'll give you an idea of my duties: I take care of the morning reports, the pay roll and other forms and reports concerning the outfit. I also type out letters and requisitions for the captain."

"We have moved into our new office now and it's quite nice. The natives sure know how to build these grass huts. The engineers build the frame work and the natives do the thatching, and it doesn't take them very long, either."

"I have been feeling fine. I sure can eat and we get plenty of it."

My address is: Pvt. Chester Voss, 36703781, APO 709 c-o p. m., San Francisco, Calif."

From somewhere in the South Pacific this week comes a letter from Sgt. Heinz Rottzoll of Arlington Heights. Heinz entered the service in August of '41, arriving at Guadalcanal September 1, 1942.

"Just a few lines to let you know I'm well and everything is swell here."

"We are still in the same place for a rest, but things will 'take shape' soon again. Don't know how long we'll be here yet, but we'll either go back to the States or into action again."

"Lately a few of us fellows have organized a rifle team. We have fired in a competition meet with the Home Guard units of this country's army and won the trophy. Their score was 704 and ours was 712. Eight men participated on either team and it proved to be a close match alright."

"We will again fire for competition tomorrow and we are in hopes of winning again. We'll just have to keep up the good old Marine Corps tradition."

"Through the Herald I have been able to get in contact with former classmates and chums who are now in the services abroad. I realize that sometimes some of us have come very close, in our travels, to each other in the war zones."

"Must close this letter now as time is drawing close. I appreciate receiving the Herald immensely."

His address is Tech-Sgt. Heinz Rottzoll, U.S.M.C., S.S.-14, M.A.G.-14, S.M.A.W., Navy No. 132, (one-three-two), c/o Fleet P.O., San Francisco, Cal.

KID SALVAGE

California

Aviation cadet Bob Jacobs of Arlington Heights sends a card from naval pre-flight school, Del Monte, California.

"Just a line to give you my new address. I just completed my flight training at New Mexico and am now at pre-flight for further officer training."

"Del Monte is about 350 miles north of Los Angeles and 100 miles from San Francisco. We are about one mile from the ocean and is it ever cold. This morning the temperature was 38 degrees."

"We are living in the biggest and best hotel in the west. The rooms are swell with carpeting all over the place. There are plenty of nice couches and arm chairs to sit in."

"The school here is modeled after Annapolis. In fact it's just as rough and tough as Annapolis. We get four hours of physical training each day. Also plenty of ground school, gunnery, recognition, communications, etc."

"Physical training is the best part of this school. If you break an arm they put you in soccer. If you break a leg they send you to boxing. (At least, so the story goes)."

"I recently met Raoul Peeters of Arlington, who is also stationed here."

"We will be issued our blue and white officer uniforms in two weeks. At present we are in quarantine for four weeks, so wouldn't have any use for our uniforms now."

Bob's address is Av.Cad R. W. Jacobs USNR, Btt 15, Room 432, US Naval Pre-flight school, Del Monte, California.

Corporal James Utpadel of Wheeling, learned that the Japs and malaria germs were not his only enemies, when he returned from a visit to Los Angeles to find his hospital locker empty. Several suitcases and a sea bag containing all his clothes and personal belongings were stolen. Fortunately Jim was wearing his best uniform while away.

A search was ordered, but no trace of the culprit or stolen goods had been found when he last wrote. He felt worse about losing his razor and some Jap trophies. Corp. Utpadel just recovered from a recurrence of malaria, and was still at the Marine Hospital, San Diego.

It happened here

The evening primrose show opens daily just over the fence under our windows and the display is well worth seeing; to our recollection there has never before been such a lavish growth of weeds and wild flowers in this neglected acre, due perhaps to the cultivation it received last summer as a Victory garden; when nature takes back a cultivated area, she runs riot. The tall stalks of primroses with cream colored blossoms scattered here and there all over the lot sort well with the burnt orange of the daisies that arrange themselves in circles, some under the ferny leaves of a young alanthus tree, others banded about certain seed bearing weeds. The person who wrote "In Defense Of Weeds" should meet these untamed specimens; they are very tall, limber, slim and the most graceful wands imaginable growing to pointed fuzzy tips where sparrows love to swing and feed; no wild garden should be without them and their is some swaying. The horse Frank has an even greater degree of intelligence than we imagined. Rudy's substitute, talking with a customer up the street, looked out at his wagon and snapped his fingers. "O, Gee! there goes Frank and he won't stop until he gets in front of 1236 where he gets his pail of water." And the substitute was amazed when Frank stopped at meeting a woman on the side walk. "O, that's all right," said the helper, "he always stops now when he sees a woman—he's so used to having one run out and stop Rudy for milk or eggs or something." Good horse sense, what we mean. S'Amuser.

"Through the Herald I have been able to get in contact with former classmates and chums who are now in the services abroad. I realize that sometimes some of us have come very close, in our travels, to each other in the war zones."

Most panamas worn in the United States come from Ecuador and Colombia where they are hand-woven by Indians from split and bleached leaves of the palmlike toquilla. Hat-making is a home industry, generally a side line to farming. A simple hat may be in the making for six months.

A Letter From Bud

Bud wrote Ma and me a short letter. For he said they was called out to drill, But he hoped that the verse he was sendin' Would, at least, sorta' help fill the bill.

He says that last Sunday their Chaplain Gave a talk on "Our Humble Abode" And he closed it by reciting this poem Called "The Judge at the End of the Road."

"As we must all travel the Highway of Life And be judged by the seed which we sowed, Remember each crop that we reap will be checked By the Judge at the End of the Road."

He's the Master of Laws who sits on His Throne Ever Chanting a Heavenly Ode He checks all our Mile Posts as we start his way, For He's the Judge at the End of the Road.

There'll be mile stones of troubles, pleasures and cares None of these do we dare overlook For no one can lighten the Burdens we Bear But the Judge at the End of the Road.

Now if a weak Brother should fall by the Way You should lend him a hand with His Load, But don't look for Pay, for the Pay will be made By the Judge at the End of the Road.

The poor man will say that he walked all the way, While the Rich man will say that He rode, But there's no one to tell how clean they arrived, But the Judge at the End of the Road.

The thief and the liar will find the road rough And they'll pay for the path that they strode, They'll find in the End they'll be sidetracked to Hell By the Judge at the End of the Road.

Now if you've been Honest, loving and true And God's Blessings on you he's Bestowed, You've nothing to fear at the End of the Trail From the Judge at the End of the Road.

But if you have sinner on the Highways of Life Just Repent, it will lighten your load, For your sate must be clean when you come to the end With the Judge at the End of the Road.

Ma said—That's a beautiful message To impress on the hearts of our Youths, In the turmoil of war's crimson battles May they ever remember God's Truths.

Ma says if our war workin' Chaplains Miss the medals on Heroes Bestowed, Their award will await them in Heaven From the Judge at the End of the Road."

Texas

From Temple, Texas, comes word of Pvt. William McQuaid of Arlington Heights.

"Just a line to let you folks know I have been transferred from my old camp to the hospital where I am a patient. I don't know how long I'll be here, but I won't worry because it's pretty nice here."

"Yep, we have a very beautiful blonde nurse. The food is of the finest and well prepared. We don't have any work to do except sit and read. We spend quite a lot of time on the sun porch talking."

Bill was previously engaged in military police work at the Hearne, Texas, internment camp. Bill's itinerary includes Camp Grant, Ill., Camp McCoy, Wisconsin, and Camp McCain, Mississippi; thence to Hearne.

His present address is Pvt. William McQuaid, McCloskey General Hospital, Ward 15-B, Temple, Texas.

From Camp Fannin, Texas, comes a letter from Sgt. Rog. Hertel of Arlington Heights.

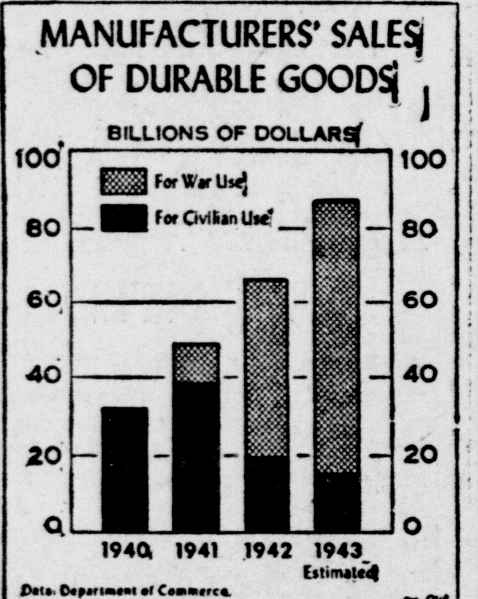

"We've been down here at Camp Fannin, Texas, since July 23. It is a new camp located near the town of Tyler. I am still lucky to have my wife near me, our having rented a home in Tyler."

"This country sure is dry down here. Soldiers can get a bottle of beer at the PX but that is more than can be obtained outside."

"If you ever get down to East Texas don't fail to see the town of Kilgore. The oil wells are so thick there that it looks just like a forest. No fooling, there are thousands of wells, each just a few feet apart. At night the town is all lit up by the natural gas fires which burn constantly in the oil well district."

"Say hello to all the gang." Rog's address is Sgt. R. E. Hertel, 36317564, Co D 56th Bn, Camp Fannin, Texas.

Lefty Aldrich of Jewel Oil Co., returned home Tuesday after 15 days vacation spent in Texas, which is about the hottest place he can imagine. He went down to see his son, Jack W. who is undergoing a seven week basic course of officers training at Camp Walters. While there he met Robert Milligan and C. L. Kleinfen of Arlington Heights and three boys from Mt. Prospect. New officers from service in the Solomon Islands are now instructing the men, and the boys are "eating it up" says Lefty.

Louisiana

From Camp Claiborne, Louisiana, comes word from Sgt. H. Bartlett of Arlington Heights.

"As you probably know we are on maneuvers. We have been on them since the first of August. After a two week rest period we'll probably have some more. I only hope the next ones aren't down here in Louisiana."

"The ground is very hard here. After digging a few fox holes and slit trenches, it's no picnic. Outside of sleeping on hard ground, killing snakes and scratching insect bites, plus taking care of fat ants, maneuvers aren't so bad. We don't get our clothes off oftener than once a week, so you can imagine how dirty we get."

"I hope I can get home again soon. At least I'm counting on it. Please don't let that Camp Claiborne address fool you. We left there for good August 8. I sure miss the old home town."

His address is Sgt. H. Bartlett, 36712091, Co A 328th Med Bn, APO 470, Camp Claiborne, Louisiana.

Protein Lack Lowered Stamina
It was observed that a large percentage of those suffering from "war dropsy" in Germany in 1919 also manifested an increased susceptibility to infectious diseases which caused the death rate to rise as food supplies became scarcer. An intensive study following the war showed that this war dropsy was due in large measure to the reduced protein content of the blood which resulted from a lack of protein in the diet.

New Mexico

Among those awarded "wings" and second lieutenants' commissions in a recent graduation of bombardier cadets at Roswell Army Air Field, Roswell, N. M., was David Evans Wilson, son of

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Wilson, 520 Banbury rd., Arlington Heights. Prior to joining the Army in June, 1942, the lieutenant attended Arlington Heights high school, then was employed in Chicago.

Wilson took previous flight training at Santa Ana, Calif. Lt. Wilson immediately joined his parents in the last four days of their month's vacation at Lake Ripley, Wisconsin. The family returned to Arlington Tuesday. Lt. Wilson will rejoin Uncle Sam Thursday.

California

Now in California is Pvt. Frank Schott, Jr., of Mt. Prospect. Frank entered the service in November of last year, and was sent to signal corps school at Lexington, Kentucky. He has now gone to Camp Kohler, California, for basic training.

His address is ASN 1614863, Co A 1st Sig Tng Bn, WSCRTC, Camp Kohler, California.

Pfc. Walter Foslund, former police officer of Mt. Prospect, has left Camp Barkeley, Texas, for desert training somewhere in California.
